Thank you for your always kind support for Midea

As the AC market is developing rapidly worldwide, we are increasingly seeing the need for eco-friendly air processing HVAC products. We at Midea see the great opportunity of combining Solar Thermal energy and Air conditioning products in the world market.

SolX Energy Ltd, an innovative company based in the UK & headed by Chris Micallef, one of our UK Midea Technical consultants and now international Technical Director for SolX Energy, has been our distributor of Variable Flow Refrigeration and Chiller products for many years. We certify the ThermX technology and the efficiencies delivered with our variable refrigerant flow systems.

Once again, thank you for fully supporting our vast range of products, and together we can establish prosperous partnerships and win future energy efficient projects between our two companies with this joint venture operation.
